Algerian Rebels Called to Talks

Army Chief Seeks End To Anti-Ben Bella Fuss

ALGERS (AP) — The chief of the regular Algerian army summoned guerrilla leaders to a meeting in eastern Algeria today in an effort to weld a common front against anti-Ben Bella guerrillas controlling Algiers and the surrounding area.

From his headquarters in western Algeria, Col. Houari Boumediene called the commanders of Wilayas (military zones) Nos. 1, 2, 5 and 6 to the meeting in Setif, 150 miles east of Algiers on the road to Constantine.

The leaders of Wilayas 3 and 4, who chased Deputy Premier Ahmed Ben Bella's Political Bureau out of the capital, were not invited.

Boumediene, chief of the 45,000-man regular army, clearly was attempting to unite most of Algeria's 100,000 troops against the anti-Ben Bella guerrilla commanders in central Algeria. But there was no sign that shooting was imminent.

Diplomatic observers believe the opposing sides will continue to try to avoid bloodshed. They fear, however, that a form of military dictatorship will emerge from the economic chaos and bitter political bickering that has prevailed since independence July 3.

The anti-Ben Bella leaders command an imposing force of toughened veterans of the war for independence against France. Wilaya 4, controlling Algiers, is believed to have 20,000 men under arms. Their supporters in Wilaya 3, in the Kabylie Mountains to the east, are estimated at 10,000.

Boumediene's own troops are largely untested, having sat out most of the war in Morocco and Tunisia.

Catholic Urges Boycott of Church School

BURAS, La. (AP) — The superintendent of public schools in Plaquemine Parish has urged Roman Catholic parents to take their children out of parochial schools rather than accept desegregation.

"I am a Catholic, but when my church starts fighting me, I am going to fight back," said the school official, Sam A. Moncla.

Moncla told a group of about 600 Catholic parents Monday night that the public schools have facilities to educate Catholic children removed from parochial schools.

The parents attended a hastily called meeting to discuss an announcement that a parochial school in Buras would be desegregated next month. The parish is in the archdiocese of New Orleans which was directed last spring by Archbishop Joseph Francis Rummel to accept all pupils regardless of race in its parochial schools.

Moncla joined Parish Council President Leander H. Perez, who was excommunicated for defying the church desegregation edict, in urging Catholic parents to boycott parochial schools if they accept Negro students.

Tropical Storm Brushes Hatteras

HATTERAS, N.C. (AP) — Tropical storm Alma gave the North Carolina coast and Outer Banks a light brushoff today and moved northeastward along the Atlantic shore.

The center of the feeble storm, described by the Miami Weather Bureau as poorly organized, was located in the vicinity of Cape Hatteras, N.C., at 8 a.m., moving northeastward at about 18 miles per hour.

Maximum winds were estimated at 45 m.p.h. just east of the center with squalls of 30 to 40 m.p.h. extending some 200 miles in the eastern semicircle. The western half was described as relatively weak.

Home Damaged By Fire Today

Sparks from Chimney Ignite Shingle Roof

An early morning fire destroyed the roof and upper story of the Charles Harris residence on Immel Road in Wayne Twp.

According to Warren Wright, Williamsport fire chief, the blaze apparently started when sparks from the chimney ignited the wood shingle roof. The Harris family was using a cook stove to prepare breakfast.

They were unaware of the fire until a passing motorist who had seen smoke rising from the roof notified them.

The Williamsport Volunteer Fire Department answered the alarm.

Damage was estimated at approximately $4,000. The value of the contents destroyed was tentatively set at $1,000.

Contents in the lower portion of the home were saved. There was slight water damage to the lower floor, but the fire was brought under control before it reached the downstairs rooms.

Anti-Red School Signup Disappointing

NEW YORK (AP) — Dr. Fred C. Schwarz's five-day New York School of Anti-Communism opened to a small enrollment which one official of the campaign called disappointing.

Only about 400 persons attended the morning and afternoon sessions Monday. The evening session started in Carnegie Hall with about 300 persons present, but the attendance increased to about one-fourth of the hall's 2,760-seat capacity.

Schwarz, 49, a Baptist lay preacher and a physician, has conducted similar schools in various parts of the United States.

He told the audience here that his school limited itself "to giving knowledge of the pathology of communism so people with specific knowledge of local situations will be able to apply this."

James D. Colbert, vice president of the organization, said the New York venture would cost $75,000-$100,000, including meetings here April 14 in Manhattan Center, and June 28 in Madison Square Garden.

Colbert described the initial enrollment as disappointing and said: "We are running a deficit. If it were not for the constituents who have supported us in the rest of the country we wouldn't have been able to operate."

Enrollment charges are $5 for one day or $20 for the full series.

Farm Group Urges Holdout On Crops To Boost Prices

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — Flushed with victory over the repudiation by two large firms of a controversial farm report, the National Farmers Organization started today an attempt to boost farm prices by holding products off the market.

Oren Lee Staley, 59, of Rea, Mo., NFO president said he is confident such an action would force processors of farm products to agree to long term contracts calling for higher prices.

NFO members from 15 states were to vote today on proposals to hold cattle, hogs, sheep and grain off the market. The organization went into its meeting after having gained statements from Ford Motor Co. and Sears, Roebuck and Co. disclaiming any connection with a farm plan proposed by the Committee on Economic Development (CED).

Theodore O. Yntema, Ford vice president, and Theodore V. Houser, a Sears director, were members of the CED research committee that drafted the plan calling for removal of some two million farmers from the farms and reduction of farm price supports over the next five years.

The NFO had demonstrated against the two firms, demanding that they issue statements clarifying whether the report represented the official policy of the companies.

Ford repudiated the report Sunday. Staley said he received a telegram Monday from Sears officials, saying that the company "is not connected in any way with the report on agriculture by the CED."

Staley said he expects quick approval of the holding action by the more than 15,000 NFO members expected at the meeting.

"We also plan to discuss the possibility of including milk among the products we will keep off the market," Staley said. "Our plans call for the holding action to start mighty soon."

The proposed action would be the seven-year-old NFO's most ambitious attempt to raise farm prices. Three previous holding actions on hogs by NFO members failed to create noticeable effects on hog prices.

"I believe we are strong enough now to have a reasonable chance," he said, also. "We are demanding that processors sign contracts to purchase farm products through the NFO that will stabilize prices and marketing conditions."

The NFO so far has failed to get any processors to sign contracts making the farm organization a bargaining agent, Staley said.

Rhodes' office said the auditor's figures were taken from a report by Donald B. Leach, administrator of the Bureau of Unemployment Compensation—A Disalle appointee.

DiSalle objected specifically to this quote from Rhodes' speech: "In Hamilton County a decrease of eight-tenths of one per cent has been experienced. This is a loss of 15,807 jobs."

DiSalle said Ohio Chamber of Commerce figures show that in 1958 there were 287,618 people employed in Hamilton County and in 1960 there were 296,880 jobs.

"This is an increase of 9,262 instead of a loss of 15,807," the governor said.

"Putting this error aside," DiSalle continued, "and assuming the auditor's figures would be correct, this would mean that, if eight-tenths of one per cent represents a loss of 15,807 jobs, the total number of people employed in Hamilton County would have to be 1,975,900."

Satellite Bill Is Sent to JFK

New Communications Plan OK'd by Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy has on his desk today the communications satellite bill he wanted.

It sets up a private, profit-making corporation to run the U. S. portion of an eventual global network on space relay stations.

The House approved a Senate version of the bill 372 to 10 Monday, foreclosing any chance to another Senate filibuster.

A small group of House liberals argued again that the bill represents a giveaway of millions of taxpayers' dollars spent on space research that makes the revolutionary communications system possible.

Rep. Oren Harris, D-Ark., chairman of the House Commerce Committee, said, "Our nation needs it. It needs it now, and without further delay."

Rep. W. R. Poage, D-Tex., who voted against the bill, said the corporation's board of directors will be dominated by the American Telephone & Telegraph Co.

The private enterprise approach to the problem of how to run a global communications network was worked out in the executive branch after months of behind the scenes debate. It has the strong backing of the President.

The satellite corporation would have 15 directors: Six named by the communications companies, six elected by public stockholders and three appointed by the President.

The communications companies could buy up to 50 per cent of the stock. The other half would be offered to the public at $100 a share.

The bill as it passed the House had a provision providing for a reduced number of directors to be named by the communications companies if they did not subscribe to their full share of the stock. This was knocked out by the Senate.

Water Shortage Is Still 'Serious'

Circleville's water shortage still remains "serious" according to Ervin Leist, public utilities manager.

Leist said today the situation has improved since last week, although rainfall in the meantime has measured only .07 of an inch. The improvement was attributed to the "cooperation received in requesting the public to curtail lawn sprinkling and excess usage of water."

An early morning reading of the pressure at the pumping station was 70 pounds, Leist said. A noon check showed 68 pounds.

Last Friday pressure dropped to 42 pounds at the pumping station. Gauges showed a total of 1.02 million gallons of water was consumed yesterday by local residents.

THE work program on the new water works plant is progressing at a steady pace, the water department head announced today.

Anti-Red School Signup Disappointing

NEW YORK (AP)—Dr. Fred C. Schwarz's five-day New York School of Anti-Communism opened to a small enrollment which one official of the campaign called disappointing.

Only about 400 persons attended the morning and afternoon sessions Monday. The evening session started in Carnegie Hall with about 300 persons present, but the attendance increased to about one-fourth of the hall's 2,760-seat capacity.

Schwarz, 49, a Baptist lay preacher and a physician, has conducted similar schools in various parts of the United States.

He told the audience here that his school limited itself "to giving knowledge of the pathology of communism so people with specific knowledge of local situations will be able to apply this."

James D. Colbert, vice president of the organization, said the New York venture would cost $75,000-$100,000, including meetings here April 14 in Manhattan Center, and June 28 in Madison Square Garden.

Colbert described the initial enrollment as disappointing and said: "We are running a deficit. If it were not for the constituents who have supported us in the rest of the country we wouldn't have been able to operate."

Enrollment charges are $5 for one day or $20 for the full series.

Farm Group Urges Holdout On Crops To Boost Prices

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — Flushed with victory over the repudiation by two large firms of a controversial farm report, the National Farmers Organization started today an attempt to boost farm prices by holding products off the market.

Oren Lee Staley, 59, of Rea, Mo., NFO president said he is confident such an action would force processors of farm products to agree to long term contracts calling for higher prices.

NFO members from 13 states were to vote today on proposals to hold cattle, hogs, sheep and grain off the market. The organization went into its meeting after having gained statements from Ford Motor Co. and Sears, Roebuck and Co. disclaiming any connection with a farm plan proposed by the Committee on Economic Development (CED).

Theodore O. Yntema, Ford vice president, and Theodore V. Houser, a Sears director, were members of the CED research committee that drafted the plan calling for removal of some two million farmers from the farms and reduction of farm price supports over the next five years.

The NFO had demonstrated against the two firms, demanding that they issue statements clarifying whether the report represented the official policy of the companies.

Ford repudiated the report Sunday. Staley said he received a telegram Monday from Sears officials, saying that the company "is not connected in any way with the report on agriculture by the CED."

Staley said he expects quick approval of the holding action by the more than 15,000 NFO members expected at the meeting.

"We also plan to discuss the possibility of including milk among the products we will keep off the market," Staley said. "Our plans call for the holding action to start mighty soon."

The proposed action would be the seven-year-old NFO's most ambitious attempt to raise farm prices. Three previous holding actions on hogs by NFO members failed to create noticeable effects on hog prices.

"I believe we are strong enough now to have a reasonable chance," he said, also. "We are demanding that processors sign contracts to purchase farm products through the NFO that will stabilize prices and marketing conditions."

The NFO so far has failed to get any processors to sign contracts making the farm organization a bargaining agent, Staley said.

Timken, Union OK New 2-Year Pact

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — Nine weeks of negotiations between Timken Roller Bearing Co. and the United Steelworkers resulted in signing of a two-year contract Monday covering about 8,500 workers in plants here and in Columbus and Wooster.

A union spokesman said supplementary unemployment benefits were improved and a retirement and vacation plan was negotiated which provide Timken workers with essentially the same gains that were made by basic steel workers in their last negotiations.

There was no wage increase.

Briley To Push for OK Of Prayer in Classroom

DELAWARE, Ohio (AP)—John Marshall Briley, Republican nominee for U.S. senator, says if elected he will work for a constitutional amendment which would guarantee freedom to have traditional prayers in classrooms.

The former Toledo industrialist told the Delaware Kiwanis Club Monday: "If we take God out of our public schools we will seriously endanger the nation's future."

This means that the purchasing power of the dollar has shrunk by a little more than a nickel since that period.

The index in July was 1.1 per cent above a year ago.

As a result of the higher living costs about 950,000 workers will receive pay increases of one cent an hour. Their union contracts call for quarterly reviews and pay increases if prices go up.

These workers include about 780,000 in the automobile and auto parts industries, mostly the Big Three—General Motors, Ford and Chrysler; 75,000 workers in the farm equipment industry—Caterpillar and International Harvester; and 65,000 in the aerospace industry. The remaining 30,000 workers are employed by meta working firms.

In addition about 15,000 employees of trucking firms will receive 3-cent increases on the basis of annual or semiannual reviews of the cost of living. These workers are mostly in North Carolina, South Carolina, Virginia and Seattle, Wash.

Higher average prices for pork, fresh milk and eggs were the major causes of a 0.3 per cent rise in food prices in July. On the other hand, prices of fresh fruit, vegetables and poultry were lower.

Satellite Bill Is Sent to JFK

New Communications Plan OK'd by Congress

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy has on his desk today the communications satellite bill he wanted.

It sets up a private, profit-making corporation to run the U.S. portion of an eventual global network on space relay stations.

The House approved a Senate version of the bill 372 to 10 Monday, foreclosing any chance to another Senate filibuster.

A small group of House liberals argued again that the bill represents a giveaway of millions of taxpayers' dollars spent on space research that makes the revolutionary communications system possible.

Rep. Oren Harris, D-Ark., chairman of the House Commerce Committee, said, "Our nation needs it. It needs it now, and without further delay."

Rep. W. R. Poage, D-Tex., who voted against the bill, said the corporation's board of directors will be dominated by the American Telephone & Telegraph Co.

The private enterprise approach to the problem of how to run a global communications network was worked out in the executive branch after months of behind the scenes debate. It has the strong backing of the President.

The satellite corporation would have 15 directors: Six named by the communications companies, six elected by public stockholders and three appointed by the President.

The communications companies could buy up to 50 per cent of the stock. The other half would be offered to the public at $100 a share.

The bill as it passed the House had a provision providing for a reduced number of directors to be named by the communications companies if they did not subscribe their full share of the stock. This was knocked out by the Senate.

Water Shortage Is Still 'Serious'

Circleville's water shortage still remains "serious" according to Ervin Leist, public utilities manager.

Leist said today the situation has improved since last week, although rainfall in the meantime has measured only .07 of an inch. The improvement was attributed to the "cooperation received in requesting the public to curtail lawn sprinkling and excess usage of water."

An early morning reading of the pressure at the pumping station was 70 pounds, Leist said. A noon check showed 68 pounds.

Last Friday pressure dropped to 42 pounds at the pumping station. Gauges showed a total of 1.02 million gallons of water was consumed yesterday by local residents.

THE work program on the new water works plant is progressing at a steady pace, the water department head announced today.

Boy Decides To 'Take Off' Hops Freight

CINCINNATI (AP) — "Well, I told my uncle I was going out to get a bag of peanuts and I felt like taking off—so I took off."

That's the explanation by Robert David Walters, 15, of Montevideo, Ala., for his whim disappearance from Crosley Field during Sunday's baseball doubleheader.

The boy was picked up Monday in a boxcar by railroad detectives at Asheville, N.C., and turned over to police. He had hopped a freight in the yards near the ball park.

Asheville police Sgt. John Pepitone said, "He's in pretty good shape. He was hungry. Said he hadn't eaten in 24 hours, so we bought him a meal."

"And dirty—his trousers were torn and his legs were scratched a bit. He said that happened when he climbed over a fence."

Police turned him over to juvenile authorities after reporting his appearance to relatives in Lexington, Ky.

The boy's father, Dean John Walters of Alabama College, and his mother had hurried to Cincinnati to help in the search.

The Walters had been visiting Lexington, and Robert joined his uncle, B. R. Patterson, and cousin John Patterson, 15, for a trip to see the Reds play Houston.

It was the first major league baseball game seen by young Walters. He left before the second game started.

Ohio Big City Crime Declines

WASHINGTON (AP) — Major crime in Ohio's eight largest cities dropped slightly during the first six months of this year as compared with the first six months of 1961, the U. S. Department of Justice reports.

Nationwide, however, violence in cities of 100,000 or more increased seven per cent. The report covers murder, manslaughter, forcible rape, robbery and aggravated assault.

In the eight Ohio cities with 100,000 or more population 2,513 crimes were reported this year. In the first six months of 1961 the total was 2,533.

Murders in major Ohio cities increased from 141 to 144, somewhat less than the national average increase of four per cent.

Akron Child Badly Beaten

Daughter of Minister Is Attacked in Woods

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Sheriff's deputies questioned a teen-age boy today in the death of 12-year-old Marion Brubaker, a minister's daughter whose nude, beaten body was found in a woods near her home.

The 15-year-old boy reported finding the body late Monday in a thicket in Coventry Twp. He was questioned until the early hours of the morning and was given a lie detector test, then was sent to the detention home. Deputies indicated they would have more questions for him later.

An hour before the body was found Marion had been seen pedaling her bicycle on Portage Lakes Drive on a two-mile trip home from a branch library. She was on a shortcut path through the woods when she was killed.

The Summit County coroner said her death resulted from strangling. He was awaiting results of tests on whether the slim, dark-haired girl had been raped.

Deputies said the bruises and marks on her body indicated she put up an intensive struggle before her death.

Blood was found on the path, along with fragments of a bottle that may have been used as a club. Bruise marks covered the child's throat. Her clothing — a blouse, brassiere, shorts and tennis shoes—were scattered near the body and were ripped and shredded.

The body was found in heavy undergrowth about 50 feet off the path and the bicycle had been dragged into the thicket. It was checked for fingerprints.

"God did not take her—in a human heart took her, not God," said her father, the Rev. Clair D. Brubaker, pastor of the nondenominational Protestant Hillwood Chapel Community Church for 11 years.

He said he and his wife, parents of three other daughters, Martha, 15, Evelyn, 19, and Nadine, 6, had prayed and settled the matter with God right then and there" when they received the tragic news.

Marion was a quiet, studious girl who would have been a seventh grader at Lakeview School next month. The 5-foot-2 youngster was an avid reader, an excellent student and a leader of a youthful Bible training group, her father said. She made frequent trips to the branch library.

The boy being questioned by sheriff's deputies went first to his home, near the woods, and told his father he had seen a body there. The father called police.

A man who was walking in the area also was picked up and held overnight for less intensive questioning. Two or three other persons were questioned and released.

Woman, 73, Is Rescued

MANCENONA, Mich. (AP)—A 73-year-old woman was rescued from a woods Monday after night-long wandering in an effort to find help for her dying husband.

The couple, William H. Abdon, 77, and his wife, Ann, had been berry picking.

Police Chief Robert R. Curtis said the Abdons had gone into the woods Sunday and Abdon collapsed.

Following her wail, Mrs. Abdon was found in the woods until she was found in midafternoon Monday by two other berry pickers, Robert Church and William Hartman.

She had collapsed less than 500 feet from a main road. Suffering from exposure, she was taken to the Kalkaska Health Center.

A search party of 75 volunteers and sheriff's men and state police found the husband Monday night. He had died of an apparent heart attack. The body was found two miles from where Mrs. Abdon was found.

He added that a 30-cent daily charge would be made for all students eating at school operated cafeterias.

The administration urged all eligible students who plan to ride school buses during the year to be on their appointed bus on the first day in order to establish bus loads. It may be necessary to adjust schedules in the event of overloaded runs.

Bloodmobile Is Due Thursday

The Pickaway County Red Cross Blood Program Committee today pointed out the need for wholehearted community support of the Bloodmobile on its visit to Pickaway County Thursday.

The mobile unit again will set up operations at the First Methodist Church from 11 a. m. to 5 p. m.

Committee officials said that many persons have indicated they will be happy to donate blood if and when friends or relatives happen to need it. However, the committee explained, giving blood in this fashion does not help when there is an immediate or emergency need.

Spokesmen for the committee said they were pleased with the large Bloodmobile response here in July when 146 persons volunteered as donors. They hope this figure will be duplicated Thursday.

They advised that it is best to visit the bloodmobile at an appointed time. Appointments may be made by calling the Red Cross Chapter office at GR 4-5736.

Trailer Court Opened West Of Circleville

Opening of the new A&W Trailer Court was announced today by Girard Edelblute, owner and operator.

The A&W Court is one mile west of Circleville at Routes 22 and 56. It is next door to the A&W Drive-In, also operated by Edelblute.

The court consists of 13 lots, each 30 by 70 feet. Edelblute said they will accommodate any of the larger type house trailers.

Edelblute said sidewalks within the court will be five feet wide, with two-foot walks leading to patios 9 by 40 feet.

Streets, scheduled for one-way traffic, will be 30 feet wide and of blacktop construction.

According to the owner, occupants will be able to park their cars on the streets. A playground for the children will later include a small swimming pool for residents of the court.

Also planned is a building to house the court's water pump, water softener, a mail drop and space for garbage cans.

Tentative grand opening for the court has been scheduled for Sept. 15.

East Germans Say that They 'Accept Fate'

By LOYAL GOULD

LEIPZIG, East Germany (AP)—Hopes rise and fall along the Berlin Wall with the slightest change in the East-West political climate. But inside East Germany, there is a spirit of resignation.

Walter Ulbricht, Germany's top Red, has succeeded in wiping out almost all hope for a change for the better.

"After 17 years of Communist rule," a Leipzig streetcar conductor said, "we are coming to accept our fate."

He expressed the opinion of dozens of people this reporter talked to during 10 days in this former cultural and commercial center.

Once known as a little Paris because of its sparkling intellectual and social life, Leipzig now has the drab uniformity and widespread shabbiness characteristic of East Germany's colorless cities.

"Since it looks to many of us as if it's going to stay this way, we're knocking under and trying to make the best of a bad situation," said a student from East Berlin's Humboldt University.

"The only way to get ahead here is to at least pretend you're a good Communist," he explained. Joining the party assured him better diet and preference for a job when he graduates next year.

"There are about 1.6 million of us in the party," he continued, "and about 1 per cent are true believers."

"What's the use of showing opposition? You'll only suffer for it. Why try to escape? You'll probably be killed."

A shop clerk in her late teens voiced similar opinions.

"There's no use even pretending it ever will be any different," she said, "because the people running things here are backed up by Russian power."

The girl, who would be pretty if she had the things with which Western women enhance their looks, is a member of the Communist Free German Youth organization.

Her fiancé is a 20-year-old machinist in a Leipzig factory. The party has promised them a 2½-room apartment in an apartment house to be completed in three months.

"I have to give lip service to party doctrine," said the machinist, "but why not when it's to my advantage?"

He said Communist and non-Communist workers in his factory meet almost daily to discuss the editorials in the party's main newspaper Neues Deutschland.

"These sessions are boring and time consuming and we dislike them," he continued, "but if you don't show you're read and understood the editorials, you're sunk."

Venus Shot Tied To Small Motor

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)

—A small ace-in-the-hole motor weighing 37.3 pounds is the big key to America's attaining the world's most significant interplanetary achievement—shooting the Mariner 2 spacecraft on an exploratory mission past Venus.

If the complex space messenger sweeps within 10,000 miles of Venus in December as planned—after a 180-million mile trip—it would mark a major breakthrough for the United States in the race for space.

Information relayed by Mariner 2 could help scientists and astronomers unravel secrets concealed for centuries by the planet's constant cloud layers. It could determine whether life as we know it possibly could exist on the planet, something doubted by most scientists.

The spacecraft motor became all-important Monday when analysis of tracking data indicated an excellent chance Mariner 2 can be directed from the ground to the vicinity of Venus even though it is far off course.

The critical firing of the motor by ground signal is scheduled tentatively for next Tuesday, Sept. 4, after the flight path, alignment, speed and other factors have been carefully computed.

Democratic, Republican Claims Differ on Economic Status

WASHINGTON (AP) — Voters may have to choose this fall between conflicting Democratic and Republican claims that the same economic figures show the country is prosperous or recession-threatened.

By the time President Kennedy and former President Dwight D. Eisenhower take off on the campaign circuits in October, the returns on September's business barometer readings should be piling up.

If they indicate a more-than-seasonal fall pickup, Democrats will breathe easier about their chances in critical House, Senate and governor elections. If the reading is not so good, Republicans are bound to feel they have something going for them.

But if the present trend is any indication, no matter what the indices say the Democratic and Republican interpretations are likely to differ widely.

Democrats have picked up the cue from Kennedy's recent national television and radio broadcast that the country is now a lot more prosperous than it was under Eisenhower. It is convenient for most of them, however, to omit mentioning Kennedy's qualification that the economy still isn't moving fast enough to please him.

Drawing on the same reservoir of information, Republicans contend that under the Democrats the economy isn't keeping pace with either the population growth or what Western Europe is doing. They point to Kennedy's delay before he decided not to ask an immediate tax cut as a sign something is amiss.

The pattern of conflicting claims was well established in weekend political pronouncements.

Telstar Synchronizes U.S., British Clocks

WASHINGTON (AP) — Telstar is being used to synchronize the master time clocks in England and the United States, the Defense Department said today.

The first demonstration was made Saturday when transmitting and receiving stations at Goonhilly Downs, England, and Andover, Maine, flashed time checks signals simultaneously via the communications satellite.

An accuracy of 10 microseconds — one microsecond equals a millionth of a second — was obtained.

The prosperity note hard in key noting a California State Democratic convention. This was in line with an earlier decision of Democratic party leaders at a Midwestern party conference in French Lick, Ind., to blow their horn about prosperity.

On the Republican side Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., told Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., on a taped television program he thinks the country "is in the midst of some form of recession right now and if the President isn't very careful, we may all be in more."

Man Adrift 20 Hours, Prays Hard for Rescue

POMPANO BEACH, Fla. (AP) — "For God's sake, George, please try to make land. I can't swim at all!"

Those were the agonized words of Max Butcher, 25 and father of six, when a 21-foot boat sank under him and two companions in the Atlantic Ocean about 10 miles offshore.

Butcher's companions, George Hardy, 38, and Peter Thorn, 21, finally managed to make shore on their own — Hardy after 12½ hours, Thorn after 14 hours. The Coast Guard plucked Butcher from the sea around noon Sunday, about 20 hours after his ordeal began. All three are automobile salesmen in Pompano Beach.

His voice weak and his throat raw from sea water and constant calls for help, Butcher told a story of fear, hope, despair and rescue.

"I was numb. All I could think about were the sharks somewhere out there and I knew I'd never see my wife or kids again."

"Both George and Pete were wonderful. They kept reassuring me they would stay with me and began lashing life jackets and seat cushions around my shoulders and waist.

"After about 10 minutes, Pete said he would try to make shore and alert air-sea rescue teams."

"He soon was hidden by the towering seas, followed closely by our countless prayers. George had lashed us together so we wouldn't drift apart, but the course line wrapped around my leg caused me to fear the irritation would draw blood and hungry sharks, so I asked him to cut the line."

"But as he did the swift current drew him away and I froze with fear. I suddenly realized he had the only knife."

"I was defenseless. He hollered back to be brave and to stay afloat until rescuers reached the scene. Then he was gone and I prayed for him because I believed he had drowned."

"Time passed — maybe two hours — and then as if in a dream someone cried 'Butch.' That's what Pete always called me and sure enough there he came swimming over a wave right up to me. "The current was too much to make land, he told me, so he decided to head back and give me a hand."

"I guess it was about 3 a.m. when a large vessel passed within 50 yards and we literally leaped for joy out of the heavy seas, calling repeatedly 'Help us; in God's name, please save us!'"

"But their cries were not heard."

"At about 8 a.m. we found ourselves about a mile off shore. That later proved to be Juno. Pete said he would try to swim ashore and get help. I prayed hard for his safety as he struck out for shore."

"Maybe it was 11 or 11:30 a.m.

when a helicopter flew near and I managed to wave my location. But the chopper flew away, leaving me more alone than I've ever felt in my life."

"Convinced all hope was now gone, I turned my face toward heaven and told God if it was His will then I was ready and with that I slipped out of my life jacket and cushion and prepared to die."

"As the first surge of sea water filled my mouth and blinded my eyes I heard the blast of a ship's horn. 'God, you've answered my prayer,' I whispered."

"There came a beautiful Coast Guard cutter and when the crew saw my condition several sailors dove over the side and helped me aboard."

Telstar Synchronizes U.S., British Clocks

WASHINGTON (AP) — Telstar is being used to synchronize the master time clocks in England and the United States, the Defense Department said today.

The first demonstration was made Saturday when transmitting and receiving stations at Goonhilly Downs, England, and Andover, Maine, flashed time checks signals simultaneously via the communications satellite.

An accuracy of 10 microseconds—one microsecond equals a millionth of a second—was obtained.

The prosperity note hard in key noting a California State Democratic convention. This was in line with an earlier decision of Democratic party leaders at a Midwestern party conference in French Lick, Ind., to blow their horn about prosperity.

On the Republican side Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., told Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., on a taped television program he thinks the country "is in the midst of some form of recession right now and if the President isn't very careful, we may all be in more."

Man Adrift 20 Hours, Prays Hard for Rescue

POMPANO BEACH, Fla. (AP) — "For God's sake, George, please try to make land. I can't swim at all!"

Those were the agonized words of Max Butcher, 25 and father of six, when a 21-foot boat sank under him and two companions in the Atlantic Ocean about 10 miles offshore.

Butcher's companions, George Hardy, 38, and Peter Thorn, 21, finally managed to make shore on their own—Hardy after 12½ hours, Thorn after 14 hours. The Coast Guard plucked Butcher from the sea around noon Sunday, about 20 hours after his ordeal began. All three are automobile salesmen in Pompano Beach.

His voice weak and his throat raw from sea water and constant calls for help, Butcher told a story of fear, hope, despair and rescue.

"I was numb. All I could think about were the sharks somewhere out there and I knew I'd never see my wife or kids again."

"Both George and Pete were wonderful. They kept reassuring me they would stay with me and began lashing life jackets and seat cushions around my shoulders and waist."

"After about 10 minutes, Pete said he would try to make shore and alert air-sea rescue teams."

"He soon was hidden by the towering seas, followed closely by our countless prayers. George had lashed us together so we wouldn't drift apart, but the course line wrapped around my leg caused me to fear the irritation would draw blood and hungry sharks, so I asked him to cut the line."

Democratic, Republican Claims Differ on Economic Status

WASHINGTON (AP) — Voters may have to choose this fall between conflicting Democratic and Republican claims that the same economic figures show the country is prosperous or recession-threatened.

By the time President Kennedy and former President Dwight D. Eisenhower take off on the campaign circuits in October, the returns on September's business barometer readings should be piling up.

If they indicate a more-than-seasonal fall pickup, Democrats will breathe easier about their chances in critical House, Senate and governor elections. If the reading is not so good, Republicans are bound to feel they have something going for them.

But if the present trend is any indication, no matter what the indices say the Democratic and Republican interpretations are likely to differ widely.

Democrats have picked up the cue from Kennedy's recent national television and radio broadcast that the country is now a lot more prosperous than it was under Eisenhower. It is convenient for most of them, however, to omit mentioning Kennedy's qualification that the economy still isn't moving fast enough to please him.

Drawing on the same reservoir of information, Republicans contend that under the Democrats the economy isn't keeping pace with either the population growth or what Western Europe is doing. They point to Kennedy's delay before he decided not to ask an immediate tax cut as a sign something is amiss.

The pattern of conflicting claims was well established in weekend political pronouncements.

The Lonely Bee

The round dance, the "tail-wagger" and the sickle dance may be steps unfamiliar to most dance floors, although their titles are suggestive of some familiar sights. But to the honey bee they carry a strong message. It seems the female bee, who certainly has undergone her share of scientific investigation, communicates with hive-mates through various dance steps.

Depending upon which one she demonstrates, and upon the speed of maneuvers, other members of the clan will take off for nectar patches with varying degrees of alacrity, and with unerring navigational precision. But of course all of this is old hat. It was first demonstrated by Prof. Karl von Frisch, former director of the Zoological Institute of the University of Munich, more than a quarter century ago.

Now the professor is back to say not only does the forager bee lead her charges to the nectar hordes by giving them the message through a dance routine, but she does it in dialect. In an article in Scientific American, Prof. von Frisch brings the world up to date on the dancing bee.

Similar bee varieties dance the same the world over, but different nationalities have their own dialects. And when the Austrian and Italian bees, for instance, are combined in one hive, they find it impossible to communicate. Responding to the dances as best they can, they usually search fruitlessly a great distance from the spotted target.

Probably it shouldn't be surprising, but somehow the revelation that colloquialism is a strong factor in bee societies strikes a sharp contrast to human civilization's advances, especially on the dance floor. The lonely bee may have trouble making his bumbling routine meaningful, but human gyrations need little interpretation.

Ageless County Fair

The county fair has an illustrious heritage. It has long been one of man's more interesting accomplishments.

Its roots are deep in tradition. Its history is the history of commerce, of agriculture, and—if you please—of fun.

Fairs can be traced back to antiquity. They were well established in the Byzantine empire, where one of the most famous fairs, that of St. Demetrius in Thessalonica, was held each fall in the 11th century. Fairs began flourishing in France in the middle of the 12th century.

The fairs began as a periodic gathering for trade, but by the 17th century the pleasure fair, which had existed from the start as an accompaniment of the commercial fair, began to assume major importance.

Market fairs of the European variety appeared occasionally in the American colonies, but the typical American fair developed primarily as a medium of agricultural education through the awarding of prizes for the best exhibits of improved methods of agriculture and homemaking.

In early days, fairs performed many functions. They diffused agricultural knowledge, served as sources of seed, machinery and livestock, and were social and cultural events. Early in this century, however, the farmer came to depend less on fairs and many of them were abandoned. Then boy's and girls' club exhibits gave the fairs a shot in the arm, and today they are thriving again.

The county fair is a blending of the old and new, a mixture of tradition and innovation. There are the competitions, the exhibits, the familiar carnival—all the tried-and-true ingredients. Plus modern entertainment and that most contemporary of events, the crowning of a queen.

Fairs are still cultural and social events—and still fun.

The Business World

NEW YORK (AP) — Profit seems likely to become an even more controversial word in the months ahead.

Management makes two words of it—profit squeeze. It complains of making less on each unit of production and sales.

Labor tends to regard any profit rise as an indication that workers aren't getting their fair share of the fruits of industry. Labor cites the still rising total of profits as showing management can pay more in wages.

Government regards profit as a good thing—it provides tax receipts, for one thing—but not if a rise in profits comes from an inflationary rise in prices or from more unemployment brought on by cost-cutting automation.

The profit trend in many industries just now depends on two things: continuing recovery from the last recession rather than a dip into another one; and the next round of wage negotiations, with top union officials plugging for a 25-hour work week at the same pay as for the present 40 hours.

The steel industry, for example, is complaining of the profit squeeze. This was born from rising labor costs due to the fringe benefits granted last spring and the inability to raise prices because of government opposition at first, and later because of increased competition from foreign mills and new materials in the United States.

The steel labor contract can be reopened next year on the question of higher wages. By that time the mills should be producing more as the last of the stocks are used up.

But if wages go up and prices can't, there'll be even more of a profit squeeze. Competition from foreign mills and from other materials making inroads on steel's markets could make price hiking hard.

Part of the controversy over profits can very well swirl about what role the government plays next year if the steelworkers seek higher wages.

The profit question is further clouded by the fact that, with a few exceptions, each year since the war has seen the total of profits by all industries and services rise. And even in times of recessions some companies will set record profits.

Part of the dollar rise in the total of profits since the war is due to monetary inflation. The dollar totals are higher but they buy less in the marketplace, whether it be materials or labor.

Part of the rise in total profits is due to the even higher climb of the total of sales. More people are buying more things. They are paying out more for them.

But many companies complain that while their sales totals have climbed their profits either have not risen in the last year or two or have done so at a much slower pace than sales.

This is the profit squeeze. It means a lower margin of profit on sales. It means production, transportation, merchandising costs have risen faster than have prices and profits are less. Many people are willing to leave this problem in management's lap.

But if profits don't justify it, industry won't expand. If profit prospects are poor, new ventures will be shelved.

The result is a squeeze on companies and their stockholders. It's also a squeeze on jobs. They don't increase as the population jump requires. Some jobs disappear because unprofitable companies fold.

Thus management argues when it tries to restore status to the word profit.

President's Difficult Position

By George Sokolsky

A reader in Adelphi, Maryland, writes to say:

"To be sure this country did pour money into both of these countries (Cuba and China); but did it go to help those who needed help? It certainly did not. It went to those who all ready had more than they needed."

This is said so often and it is always unfortunately so meaning less. A government can only deal with a government. A President of the United States can only deal with the designated officials of the government of another country. He cannot set up an office in a foreign country and shout "Come unto me all who are heavy-laden." He would be thrown out and rightly so. We would not tolerate such nonsense in our country.

Whatever form of aid our government has ever given to another people has had to be with the consent of the country aided. This goes back to the wonderful relief work that our government did in Europe during World War I and afterwards by Herbert Hoover. It goes back to UNRRA, to the Marshall Plan, to any form of aid and assistance.

Of course, prior to these many wars, American private persons and organizations poured various forms of aid into foreign countries. This has not had anything to do with our government or even its sanction. In my opinion, the most telling aid comes from missionary groups, both Protestant and Catholic, particularly in the fields of education and health. Private organizations can work people-to-people; governments are political organizations, motivated by considerations and therefore must function through such agencies as governments appoint and tolerate.

The limitations upon governmental agencies are always numerous. President Kennedy would undoubtedly prefer to pursue a foreign policy of his own devising, but no President can quite do that. He has other countries to consider, friends, enemies, neutrals, those wit which we have commitments and those which are bringing pressures to fear in other directions.

He has Congress to consider. The Congress has an enormous voice in our foreign relations. For instance the President must wait for Congress to appropriate funds for all phases of the foreign policy. The President has no power of the purse. He has to go to Congress for many forms of consent and when the President is on bad terms with Congress, his policies may be swamped for years.

Finally, the President has to consider public opinion in his own country. This is a nation in which everyone, expert or inept, brilliant mind or moron and all in between, has an opinion. And all vote on Election Day. A President, therefore, cannot flout public opinion no matter how stupid its expression may be.

Kennedy make? There are many in this country who take the position that a negotiated peace with compromise is a "no win" policy. It is. But the alternative is war. Are these persons ready publicly to favor war? If so, let them say so. Those who have proposals, "short of war" can be eliminated from serious consideration. There is no such thing as "short of war", in a world of constant war. Do they believe that the cold war is a joke?

The second proposal, that is, to stand firm but do nothing drastic, is where we are. But we can-

Labor tends to regard any profit rise as an indication that workers aren't getting their fair share of the fruits of industry. Labor cites the still rising total of profits as showing management can pay more in wages.

Government regards profit as a good thing—it provides tax receipts, for one thing—but not if a rise in profits comes from an inflationary rise in prices or from more unemployment brought on by cost-cutting automation.

The profit trend in many industries just now depends on two things: continuing recovery from the last recession rather than a dip into another one; and the next round of wage negotiations, with top union officials plugging for a 5-hour work week at the same pay as for the present 40 hours.

The steel industry, for example, is complaining of the profit squeeze. This was born from rising labor costs due to the fringe benefits granted last spring and the inability to raise prices because of government opposition at first, and later because of increased competition from foreign mills and new materials in the United States.

The steel labor contract can be reopened next year on the question of higher wages. By that time the mills should be producing more as the last of the stocks are used up.

But if wages go up and prices can't, there'll be even more of a profit squeeze. Competition from foreign mills and from other materials making inroads on steel's markets could make price hiking hard.

Part of the controversy over profits can very well about what role the government plays next year if the steelworkers seek higher wages.

The profit question is further clouded by the fact that, with a few exceptions, each year since the war has seen the total of profits by all industries and services rise. And even in times of recessions some companies will set record profits.

Part of the dollar rise in the total of profits since the war is due to monetary inflation. The dollar totals are higher but they buy less in the marketplace, whether it be materials or labor.

Part of the rise in total profits is due to the even higher climb of the total of sales. More people are buying more things. They are paying out more for them.

But many companies complain that while their sales totals have climbed their profits either have not risen in the last year or two or have done so at a much slower pace than sales.

This is the profit squeeze. It means a lower margin of profit on sales. It means production, transportation, merchandising costs have risen faster than have prices and profits are less. Many people are willing to leave this problem in management's lap.

But if profits don't justify it, industry won't expand. If profit prospects are poor, new ventures will be shelved.

The result is a squeeze on companies and their stockholders. It's also a squeeze on jobs. They don't increase as the population jump requires. Some jobs disappear because unprofitable companies fold.

Thus management argues when it tries to restore status to the word profit.

Radio Moscow, observing its 40th anniversary, reasserts the false claim that radio was invented by that "outstanding" Russian scientist, A. S. Popov. In a sense it's too bad it isn't true — "Popov" would be an ideal name for the inventor of such a gabby device.

Columbus GOP Solon Opposes Poll Tax Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Samuel Devine, Columbus Republican, was the only Ohio congressman voting against the measure as the House passed Monday a resolution submitting to the states a proposed constitutional amendment to abolish the poll tax in federal elections. Twelve Ohio Republicans and six Democrats voted for the proposal.

President's Difficult Position

By George Sokolsky

A reader in Adelphi, Maryland, writes to say:

"To be sure this country did pour money into both of these countries (Cuba and China); but did it go to help those who needed help? It certainly did not. It went to those who already had more than they needed."

This is said so often and it is always unfortunately so meaningless. A government can only deal with a government. A President of the United States can only deal with the designated officials of the government of another country. He cannot set up an office in a foreign country and shout "Come unto me all who are heavy-laden." He would be thrown out and rightly so. We would not tolerate such nonsense in our country.

Whatever form of aid our government has ever given to another people has had to be with the consent of the country aided. This goes back to the wonderful relief work that our government did in Europe during World War I and afterwards by Herbert Hoover. It goes back to UNRRA, to the Marshall Plan, to any form of aid and assistance.

Of course, prior to these many wars, American private persons and organizations poured various forms of aid into foreign countries. This has not had anything to do with our government or even its sanction. In my opinion, the most telling aid comes from missionary groups, both Protestant and Catholic, particularly in the fields of education and health. Private organizations can work people-to-people; governments are political organizations, motivated by considerations and therefore must function through such agencies as governments appoint and tolerate.

The limitations upon governmental agencies are always numerous. President Kennedy would undoubtedly prefer to pursue a foreign policy of his own devising, but no President can quite do that. He has other countries to consider, friends, enemies, neutrals, those with which we have commitments and those which are bringing pressures to fear in other directions.

He has Congress to consider. The Congress has an enormous voice in our foreign relations. For instance the President must wait for Congress to appropriate funds for all phases of the foreign policy. The President has no power of the purse. He has to go to Congress for many forms of consent and when the President is on bad terms with Congress, his policies may be swamped for years.

Finally, the President has to consider public opinion in his own country. This is a nation in which everyone, expert or inept, brilliant mind or moron and all in between, has an opinion. And all vote on Election Day. A President, therefore, cannot flout public opinion no matter how stupid its expression may be.

President Kennedy, at this moment, faces the Russian problem with three possibilities:

1. A negotiated peace with considerable compromise on both sides on major issues;
 2. Stand firm but do nothing drastic;
 3. Go to war.
- All three are unpleasant and except for war, no decision can be final. When two opponents are evenly balanced, no unilateral decision is possible, except one that brings on a war. In the next war, nuclear weapons will be used. The Russians are proving to be more formidable than was anticipated.

What decision must President

Kennedy make? There are many in this country who take the position that a negotiated peace with compromises is a "no win" policy. It is. But the alternative is war. Are these persons ready publicly to favor war? If so, let them say so. Those who have proposals, "short of war" can be eliminated from serious consideration. There is no such thing as "short of war" in a world of constant war. Do they believe that the cold war is a joke?

The second proposal, that is, to stand firm but do nothing drastic, is where we are. But we can not stand firm because things move too swiftly. We can put doctors and ambulances at the Wall of Shame in Berlin, but we cannot break down the wall without starting a war. We might even hurl a few missiles at Cuba and kill half the population, but can we guarantee that that will not start retaliation in other places?

The position is a difficult one for the man who has to make the final decision, because if he makes the absolutely wrong one, there will be no cover up and no reversal.

Hollywood Trend Appears To Be Toward New Comedy

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Hollywood knows a trend when it sees one; no doubt "Birth of a Nation" produced a rash of Civil War films. Now the industry is hot on the trail of the sophisticated comedy, in which there is no greater practitioner than the durable Cary Grant.

This is history repeating itself, for a quarter century ago Grant was in the vanguard of the first greater practitioner than the durable wave of sophisticated comedy. The result was such classics as "The Awful Truth," "Bringing Up Baby," "My Favorite Wife," etc.

Comedy got lost in a miasma of realism and psychiatry after the war. But the vogue for the sick pick appears waning, praise be. Hollywood needs no better signpost for the future than the fantastic record of "That Touch of Mink" at the Radio City Music Hall. It collared $1,886,427 in 10 weeks of play in that one theater.

Universal has become a satirical factory for the sophisticated comedy, having minted such smashes as "Pillow Talk," "Operation Petticoat," "Come September" and "Lover Come Back." Coming up: "40 Pounds of Trouble" (Tony Curtis); "If a Man Answers" (Sandra Dee, Bobby Darin) and "Three on a Match." Also coming up is "The Thrill of It All," with Grant's co-leader in the sophisticated (sex) comedy, Doris Day, plus James Garner. Another wave-rider, Rock Hudson, will be back with "It Seems There Were These Two Irishmen." Even Marlon Brando will join the trend with "King of the Mountain."

MGM has made Tennessee Williams' only comedy, "Period of Adjustment," with Jane Fonda and Tony Franciosa. The studio also has two hopeful laugh-getters shooting in Europe: "Follow the Boys" (Paula Prentiss, Russ Tamblyn) and "Friendliest Girls in the World" (Hugh O'Brian, Dolores Hart).

"Mr. Hobbs Takes a Vacation" was Fox's biggest grosser of the year so far. The company is following up with another James Stewart comedy, "Take Her, She's Mine."

Paramount is going along with the trend, having made "Who's Got the Action?" with Lana Turner and Dean Martin and "My Six Loves" with Debbie Reynolds. Currently shooting is "Paris When It Sizzles" with William Holden and Audrey Hepburn. Upcoming: "Come Blow Your Horn" for Frank Sinatra.

Warner Brothers made "Critic's Choice" with Lucille Ball and that veteran sophisticate, Bob Hope. Now in production is "Not On Your Life" with Robert Preston and Tony Randall, an expert at such films. The studio plans to film the Broadway smash "Mary, Mary" with the original cast.

United Artists will join the sweepstakes with "Irma la Douce" (Jack Lemmon, Shirley MacLaine), "Grand Duke and Mr. Pimm" (Glenn Ford, Hope Lange), "Pink Panther" (David Niven), "Five Pieces of Maria" (Danny Kaye, Melina Mercouri) and "Shot in the Dark" (Sophia Loren).

Oddly, Columbia, which practically invented the sophisticated comedy starting with "It Happened One Night" has only one in the immediate future: "The Man From the Diner's Club" with Danny Kaye.

But Columbia is also planning "Under the Yum-Yum Tree," "Playboy," "Three on a Couch," "Fair Game," "Roar Like a Dove" and others.

What do these comedies of the 1960s have that those of the 1930s lacked? Sex. Times have changed, and so has the production code.

Congress Puts Poll Tax Issue Up to States

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress submitted to the States Monday the question of making it unconstitutional to require payment of poll taxes as a qualification for voting for federal offices.

Final congressional action was taken when the House passed a resolution, previously approved by the Senate, submitting the issue to the states in the form of a proposed amendment to the Constitution.

Presidential action on the resolution is not required.

If ratified by 38 states within seven years, the amendment would become operative and the five states now having poll tax laws no longer could enforce them except in elections involving state or local officials.

The five states are Alabama, Arkansas, Mississippi, Texas and Virginia.

Most members from those states opposed the resolution, which required approval of two-thirds of the voting members for passage.

The Senate passed the resolution by a vote of 77-16 on March 27.

Today's House vote climaxed a fight started in 1939 and continued in every Congress since then. The House previously had passed anti-poll tax bills five times and the Senate twice, but never before could the two branches agree on final action.

Freed Yankee Cameraman Is Back Home

SHELTON, Wash. (AP) — For 15 tortuous months a prisoner of the Communist Pathet Lao in Laos, gaunt but smiling Grant Wolfkill, 39, was reunited with his parents Monday.

The television cameraman for the National Broadcasting Co. was one of five Americans released two weeks ago after a jungle captivity which included a 200-mile march with arms roped together, and diets of rice and rock salt.

Wolfkill told interviewers in Seattle his captors were "just as brutal as they thought they could be and still keep us alive."

"They are mountain people who are primitive, unpleasant and practically madmen," he said. "And they don't have a clue to what communism is."

Down to 140 pounds from the 192 when the Communists captured his party after their helicopter crashed, Wolfkill said: "Food was a constant preoccupation, and more than anything else we wanted light."

He said he and the other four prisoners were locked in a tiny, pitch-dark room. They were allowed to emerge into daylight only for a few moments each day.

Not Republicans, but the Grand Rapids Circle Theater group, posted the second sign. It was an advertisement for a play.

Anti-Semitism Outbreak Seen

NEW YORK (AP) — America, Roman Catholic Jesuit magazine, says some Jewish groups may produce an outbreak of anti-Semitism in this country if they continue to push for elimination of all religious practices in the public schools.

The weekly magazine, in an editorial in its Sept. 1 issue, says there have been "disturbing hints of heightened anti-Semitic feeling" since the U. S. Supreme Court decision banning a New York State official school prayer.

The editorial referred to the support given the decision by some Jewish groups and to the fact that Jews were among those petitioning the court in the New York case.

The magazine said it would be "most unfortunate if the entire Jewish community were to be blamed for the unrelenting pressure tactics of a small but overly vocal segment within it."

The editorial was described by Dr. Joachim Prinz, president of the American Jewish Congress, as containing "thinly veiled threats of anti-Semitism."

He said it was "a sorry day for religious liberty" when "so respectable a journal of opinion as America" would resort to such alleged threats, because Jews have supported efforts to protect constitutional guarantees.

America has scored the high court's decision as a step toward secularization of the nation.

WHAT'S HUMIDITY? — Hot weather doesn't bother little Miss Mary Gwen Glasheen of Bowling Green, O. She just does what comes naturally. (Central Press)

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — Just over 100 years ago the first income tax in American history went into effect with a provision now being kicked around in Congress as if it were brand new and unthinkable.

This act of July 1, 1862—among other things—called for withholding a tax on dividends and interest—paid out by banks, trust companies, railroads, savings institutions and insurance companies.

The Supreme Court in 1881, by a unanimous decision, declared this act constitutional.

But now when President Kennedy asks Congress to approve a withholding tax on dividends and interest—as part of a general tax revision to close loopholes in the tax laws—he has run into fiery opposition.

Sen. Harry F. Byrd, conservative Southern Democrat of Virginia, says the dividend withholding is "unworkable." Sen. Jacob K. Javits, liberal New York Republican, says it is "impractical."

Stock exchange firms, life insurance companies and banks want it knocked out of the bill or changed. The National Association of Manufacturers blasted the whole bill.

Support for the idea comes from equally strange mates, like liberal Sen. Paul Douglas, D-Ill., and the conservative U.S. Chamber of Commerce.

Stranger still, nobody on either side seems to remember that act of 1862 which provided for what Kennedy is asking now. But that law of a century ago should be an eye-opener to those who think some of the main features of the present tax system are of recent origin.

It was a graduated income tax. Then—as now—the first $600 of income was exempt. Then the tax was 3 per cent on income between $600 and $10,000 and 5 per cent on all income over $10,000. It went up higher later in the Civil War. It also imposed a tax on inheritance over $1,000. And—the tax was withheld from the salaries of government employees.

The House passed Kennedy's tax revision bill March 29, leaving in the withholding tax on dividends and interest. Then the measure went over to the Senate where the Finance Committee, headed by Byrd, began hearings.

When the Byrd committee got through with the bill, the withholding tax on dividends was gone. The Senate this week began debate on the measure.

The Senate bill, as it stands, instead of saving the government money will probably cost the government money. It's a guess whether the withholding tax on dividends and interest will be put back on the Senate floor.

Yet, the Treasury says $4 billion in dividend and interest income is not reported each year on tax returns. It estimates $800 million is lost yearly because of this and that withholding would bring in $650 million more.

Congress passed the 1862 act as one more way to pay for the Civil War. The greatest revenue came from other sources, like tariffs. There was a lot of cheating then, too, and gripes about the complicated tax forms.

Congress abolished this whole tax measure in 1872 under pressure from business during President Grant's administration. In 10 years it brought the government about $375 million. The revenue from other taxes ran to about $1.5 billion in the same time.

Still, in a landmark case, the act was challenged in 1865 by a lawyer who argued it wasn't right to tax a lawyer's income. This stumbled through the courts until in 1881 the Supreme Court told him he was wrong.

Between 1872 and the end of the century American industrial development was on its way. Some men made great fortunes. There were also hardships and demands for social reform. The Populists in their 1892 platform called for a new income tax. A lot of Democrats favored it. And Congress passed it in 1894, not a graduated tax, as in 1862, but a flat 2 per cent tax on all kinds of income.

The rich men didn't like it. One of the leading attorneys fighting it was John D. Rockefeller's lawyer, Joseph Choate, although Rockefeller was not involved. And in 1895, in a blinding reversal of that 1881 decision, a highly conservative court declared the income tax unconstitutional. The vote in this case was 5 to 4.

To make an income tax constitutional the country then had to pass the 16th Amendment to the Constitution in 1913. But in those years between 1895 and 1913 the nation had to do without needed revenue.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Just over 100 years ago the first income tax in American history went into effect with a provision now being kicked around in Congress as if it were brand new and unthinkable.

This act of July 1, 1862—among other things—called for withholding a tax on dividends and interest paid out by banks, trust companies, railroads, savings institutions and insurance companies.

The Supreme Court in 1881, by a unanimous decision, declared this act constitutional.

But now when President Kennedy asks Congress to approve a withholding tax on dividends and interest—as part of a general tax revision to close loopholes in the tax laws—he has run into fiery opposition.

Sen. Harry F. Byrd, conservative Southern Democrat of Virginia, says the dividend withholding is "unworkable." Sen. Jacob K. Javits, liberal New York Republican, says it is "impractical."

Stock exchange firms, life insurance companies and banks want it knocked out of the bill or changed. The National Association of Manufacturers blasted the whole bill.

Support for the idea comes from equally strange mates, like liberal Sen. Paul Douglas, D-Ill., and the conservative U.S. Chamber of Commerce.

Stranger still, nobody on either side seems to remember that act of 1862 which provided for what Kennedy is asking now. But that law of a century ago should be an eye-opener to those who think some of the main features of the present tax system are of recent origin.

It was a graduated income tax. Then—as now—the first $600 of income was exempt. Then the tax was 3 per cent on income between $600 and $10,000 and 5 per cent on all income over $10,000. It went up higher later in the Civil War. It also imposed a tax on inheritance over $1,000. And—the tax was withheld from the salaries of government employees.

The House passed Kennedy's tax revision bill March 29, leaving in the withholding tax on dividends and interest. Then the measure went over to the Senate where the Finance Committee, headed by Byrd, began hearings.

When the Byrd committee got through with the bill, the withholding tax on dividends was gone. The Senate this week began debate on the measure.

The Senate bill, as it stands, instead of saving the government money will probably cost the government money. It's a guess whether the withholding tax on dividends and interest will be put back on the Senate floor.

Yet, the Treasury says $4 billion in dividend and interest income is not reported each year on tax returns. It estimates $800 million is lost yearly because of this and that withholding would bring in $650 million more.

Congress passed the 1862 act as one more way to pay for the Civil War. The greatest revenue came from other sources, like tariffs. There was a lot of cheating then, too, and gripes about the complicated tax forms.

Congress abolished this whole tax measure in 1872 under pressure from business during President Grant's administration. In 10 years it brought the government about $375 million. The revenue from other taxes ran to about $1.5 billion in the same time.

Still, in a landmark case, the act was challenged in 1865 by a lawyer who argued it wasn't right to tax a lawyer's income. This stumbled through the courts until in 1881 the Supreme Court told him he was wrong.

Between 1872 and the end of the century American industrial development was on its way. Some men made great fortunes. There were also hardships and demands for social reform. The Populists in their 1892 platform called for a new income tax. A lot of Democrats favored it. And Congress passed it in 1894, not a graduated tax, as in 1862, but a flat 2 per cent tax on all kinds of income.

The rich men didn't like it. One of the leading attorneys fighting it was John D. Rockefeller's lawyer, Joseph Choate, although Rockefeller was not involved. And in 1895, in a blinding reversal of that 1881 decision, a highly conservative court declared the income tax unconstitutional. The vote in this case was 5 to 4.

To make an income tax constitutional the country then had to pass the 16th Amendment to the Constitution in 1913. But in those years between 1895 and 1913 the nation had to do without needed revenue.

Congress Puts Poll Tax Issue Up to States

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress submitted to the States Monday the question of making it unconstitutional to require payment of poll taxes as a qualification for voting for federal offices.

Final congressional action was taken when the House passed a resolution, previously approved by the Senate, submitting the issue to the states in the form of a proposed amendment to the Constitution.

Presidential action on the resolution is not required.

If ratified by 38 states within seven years, the amendment would become operative and the five states now having poll tax laws no longer could enforce them except in elections involving state or local officials.

The five states are Alabama, Arkansas, Mississippi, Texas and Virginia.

Most members from those states opposed the resolution, which required approval of two-thirds of the voting members for passage.

The Senate passed the resolution by a vote of 77-16 on March 27.

Today's House vote climaxed a fight started in 1939 and continued in every Congress since then. The House previously had passed anti-poll tax bills five times and the Senate twice, but never before could the two branches agree on final action.

Freed Yankee Cameraman Is Back Home

SHELTON, Wash. (AP)—For 15 torturous months a prisoner of the Communist Pathet Lao in Laos, gaunt but smiling Grant Wolfkill, 39, was reunited with his parents Monday.

The television cameraman for the National Broadcasting Co. was one of five Americans released two weeks ago after a jungle captivity which included a 200-mile march with arms roped together, and diets of rice and rock salt.

Wolfkill told interviewers in Seattle his captors were "just as brutal as they thought they could be and still keep us alive."

"They are mountain people who are primitive, unpleasant and practically madmen," he said. "And they don't have a clue to what communism is."

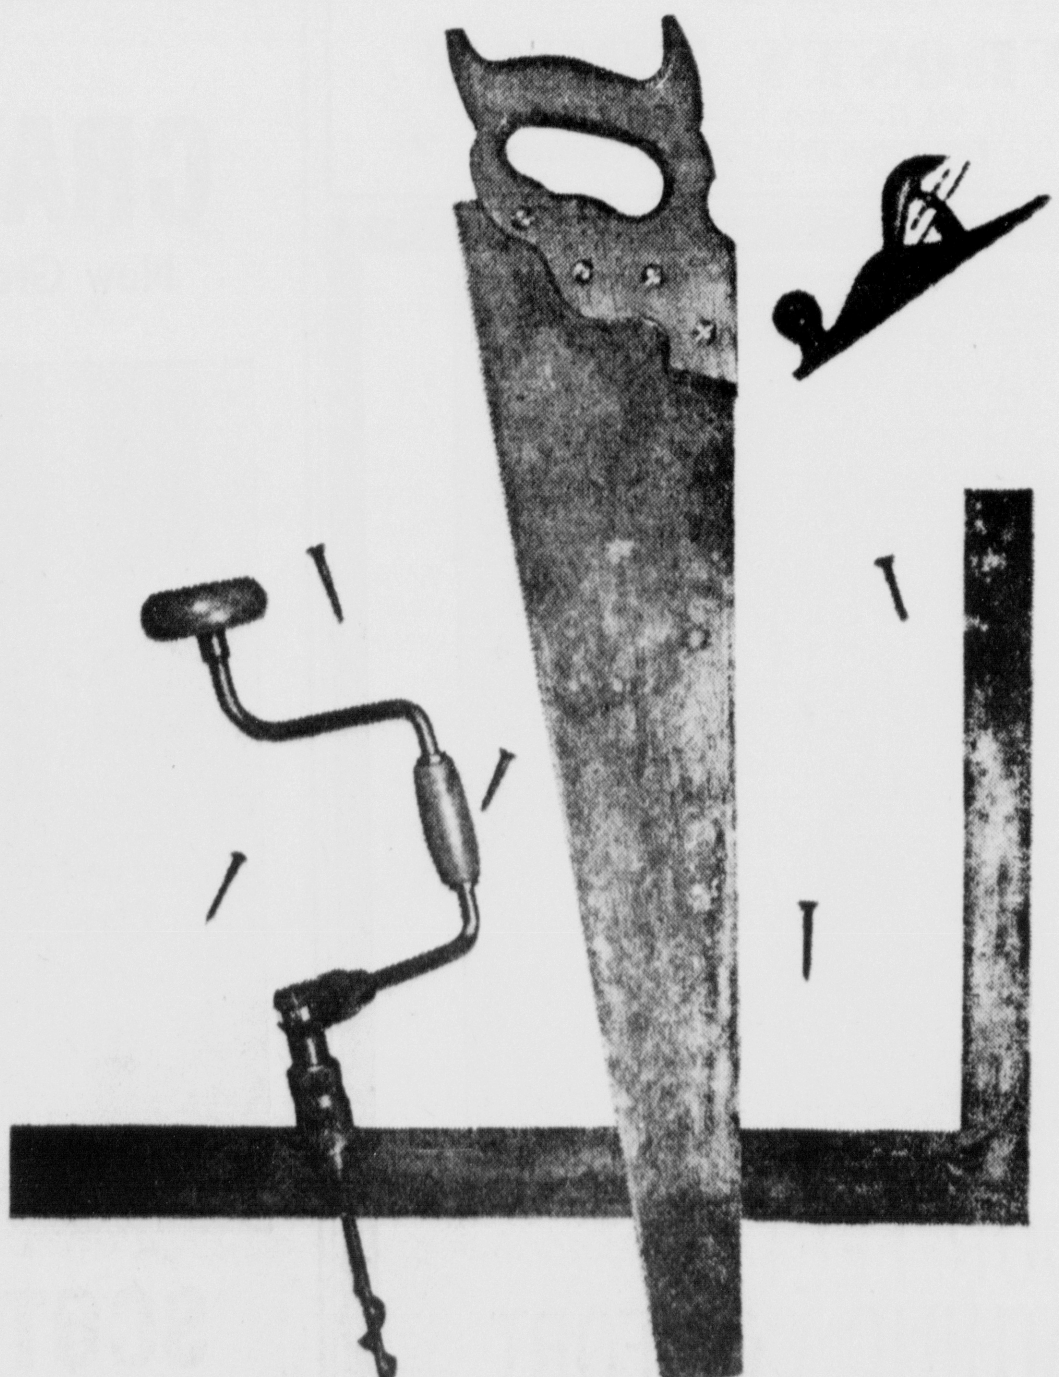

Down to 140 pounds from the 192 when the Communists captured his party after their helicopter crashed, Wolfkill said: "Food was a constant preoccupation, and more than anything else we wanted light."

He said he and the other four prisoners were locked in a tiny, pitch-dark room. They were allowed to emerge into daylight only for a few moments each day.

'Dems,' 'Dirty Work' Signs Just Coincidence

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP)—At the hotel where Michigan Democrats met over the weekend, a sign reading "Democratic State Convention" was followed by one reading "Dirty Work at the Crossroads."

Not Republicans, but the Grand Rapids Circle Theater group, posted the second sign. It was an advertisement for a play.

Dramatic New Look in Furs

OPULENT SUIT — A broadtail jacket is mink-trimmed to match a mink skirt.

BROADTAIL TOPPER — A completely reversible topper features a lining of chinchilla.

By SUSAN BARDEN

Furs run the gamut from spectator sports to ultra-elegant in Schiaparelli's fall and winter collection.

Her new look is regal and dramatic, with beautiful furs expertly manipulated to give high couture styles to coats, suits, capes, stoles and jackets. There are even dresses made of fine pelts for those who want to go all-out.

Street-length coats were cut with low, flaring skirts. Many had fitted fronts and graceful, flowing backs while others used shirred back yoke treatments.

Sleeves were shaped in a variety of ways. There were trumpet sleeves, belted sleeves, full three-quarter lengths and long cuffed and below-elbow cuffed sleeves.

Often coats and jackets used contrasting furs to trim collars, cuffs and hemlines. Colors proved interesting, with the furs dyed in turquoise, mocha, black, golds, silver gray and oyster white.

Suggestions For Serving Fresh Pears

By ALICE DENHOFF

Coming into our produce markets now is the first of the fruits that we associate with fall — the pear. California sends us delicious Bartletts and here are some unusually delicious dishes to make with them.

FRUIT-STUFFED ROMAINE

1 large head romaine
2 or 3 fresh California Bartletts
12 stuffed olives, sliced
1/4 c. French dressing
Carefully remove inner leaves of lettuce without removing base. Wash well, pat dry with paper towels and crisp in refrigerator.

Core pears and cut into cubes; add olives and toss lightly with dressing.

Spoon into lettuce with all of dressing. Tie, chill 1 hr. or so before serving.

To serve, slice through lettuce at table and use fork and spoon to serve.

Makes 5 or 6 salads.
And here's a light but nutritious salad to serve on a warm day.

4 fresh Bartletts
1/2 c. French dressing
2 tbsp. chili sauce
1/2 c. chopped water cress
1/4 tsp. paprika
Salad greenery
1 (3-oz.) pkg. cream cheese
Wash pears and chill for several hours.

Mix French dressing with chili sauce, water cress and paprika.

At serving time, halve and core pears; arrange on salad greens with spoonful of cream cheese in each cavity.

Pour dressing over.
Serves 4.

A third salad has a surprise dressing.

TOSSED FRUIT SALAD WITH BACON DRESSING

Assorted lettuce
2 fresh pears
Lemon juice
6 slices lean bacon, diced
1/2 c. vinegar
1 tsp. sugar
Salt and pepper to taste
Wash lettuce; dry well and crisp in refrigerator.

Core pears and cut into cubes; squeeze lemon juice over all.

Cook diced bacon slowly in skillet until crisp; remove from fire and slowly add vinegar mixed with sugar and seasonings, whipping constantly.

Pour over salad of bite-sized pieces of lettuce and pears while still warm.

Serve at once.
Serves 4.

Other Suggestions

Pears, cored and poached in water and sugar until just barely tender, then stuffed, are delicious.

For a gourmet dish, soften sharp Cheddar with a little cream. Whip until smooth, then stir in chopped nuts.

Stuff pears and roll in coarse sugar.

Or fill pear cavities with a rich vanilla cream and roll in grated unsweetened chocolate.

Another idea is to stuff the pears with mixed candied fruit, then roll in coarse sugar mixed with grated lemon rind.

Dear Abby: by Abigail Van Buren
Do Something Now!

DEAR ABBY: I thought I couldn't live without Alan, so my Mama signed for us to get married. I am 16 and he is 22. My folks didn't want me to get married but they were fearful, if they didn't sign for me, I might get in a family way. He has hit me a couple of times. When I beg him to stay home or take me with him, he says I nag him. Abby, I can't tell my parents I made a terrible mistake, and I can't live this way any more. DEAR ABBY: I have been married four years. I am 52 and my husband is 60. This is the second marriage for both of us. I have married children who never ask for a thing from us. Today's highlight in history:

In 1939, Hitler's armies occupied Bratislava.

In 1945, Lt. Gen. Jonathan Wainwright was flown to Chungking from Mukden near where he had been held prisoner by the Japanese during most of World War II.

For Serving
Fresh Pears

By ALICE DENHOFF

Coming into our produce markets now is the first of the fruits that we associate with fall — the pear. California sends us delicious Bartlett's and here are some unusually delicious dishes to make with them.

FRUIT-STUFFED ROMAINE

1 large head romaine
2 or 3 fresh California Bartlett's
12 stuffed olives, sliced
1/4 c. French dressing
Carefully remove inner leaves of lettuce without removing base. Wash well, pat dry with paper towels and crisp in refrigerator.

Core pears and cut into cubes; add olives and toss lightly with dressing.

Spoon into lettuce with all of dressing. Tie; chill 1 hr. or so before serving.

To serve, slice through lettuce at table and use fork and spoon to serve.

Makes 5 or 6 salads.
And here's a light but nutritious salad to serve on a warm day.

4 fresh Bartlett's
2 tbs. French dressing
2 tbs. chili sauce
1/2 c. chopped water cress
1/4 tsp. paprika
Salad greenery
1 (3-oz.) pkg. cream cheese
Wash pears and chill for several hours.

Mix French dressing with chili sauce, water cress and paprika.

At serving time, halve and core pears; arrange on salad greens with spoonful of cream cheese in each cavity.

Pour dressing over.

Serves 4.

TOSSED FRUIT SALAD WITH BACON DRESSING

Assorted lettuce
2 fresh pears
Lemon juice
6 slices lean bacon, diced
1/2 c. vinegar
1 tbs. sugar
Salt and pepper to taste
Wash lettuce; dry well and crisp in refrigerator.

Core pears and cut into cubes; squeeze lemon juice over all. Cook diced bacon slowly in skillet until crisp; remove from fire and slowly add vinegar mixed with sugar and seasonings, whipping constantly.

Pour over salad of bite-sized pieces of lettuce and pears while still warm.

Serve at once.

Serves 4.

Today is Tuesday, Aug. 28, the 240th day of 1962. There are 125 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this day in 1941, Russia announced that the Soviet Union's Dnieper River dam had been destroyed to prevent it falling into the hands of advancing German troops. The dam was one of the world's largest, built at a cost of $110 million.

On this date

In 1565, French Protestant explorer and colonizer Jean Ribault reached Florida where he died later that same year.

In 1796, John DuFour established the first vineyard in America near Lexington, Ky.

In 1864, regular service was started with the first railway post office on the Chicago & Northwestern Railroad between Chicago and Clinton, Iowa.

In 1939, Hitler's armies occupied Bratislava.

In 1945, Lt. Gen. Jonathan Wainwright was flown to Chungking from Mukden near where he had been held prisoner by the Japanese during most of World War II.

Today's birthdays:
Baseball executive Charley Grimm is 64. Actor Donald O'Connor is 37.

Thought for today:
Nature is thought immersed in matter—Amos Bronson Alcott.

If you want that whipped cream topping to have a fine texture, beat it rapidly to bring it to the whipped stage.

Toothpicks will help you clean the fine holes in a garlic press.

Tiger Grid Staff for 1962 Preps for Sept. 7 Opener

The 1962 varsity football coaching staff at Circleville High School is practically the same one that guided the Tigers to a co-championship title in the South Central Ohio league in 1961.

Heading the staff is Carl Benhase who is ably assisted with the varsity squad by John Adler, Jim Lint and Dick Fisher. Bill Mosure, the only new addition to the staff, will handle the freshman and reserve teams and Jim Shaw takes over the junior high assignment.

Benhase was graduated from Miami University. He played quarterback there under Woody Hayes, present coach of the Ohio State football team. He started his coaching career as a backfield mentor at Ft. Eustis, Va., in 1952.

He was with the U. S. Army in Korea in 1952, then served as backfield and assistant coach at Marion High School in Virginia after his discharge. In 1956 he assumed the head coaching position at Berne Union High School in Fairfield County, where he coached for three years.

"BENNY" came to Circleville in 1959 as head coach. His overall record here is 17-10-2.

John Adler, Tiger guard and center coach, was graduated from Springfield High School and attended Wittenberg where he was named to the 1956 All-Ohio team as a guard.

Adler began his coaching career at Circleville as a reserve mentor. In 1958 he assumed the post of varsity guard and center coach. His offensive guards and defensive middlemen are always highly respected by Tiger opponents.

Jim Lint, a graduate of Tuscarawas-Warwick High School and Ashland College, is the tackle and end coach. In 1961, his second year as a varsity coach, he developed two all-league tackles, Vern Reichmanis and Keith Thomerson. He played tackle on the Ashland Grid team.

Dick Fisher, backfield mentor, was graduated from Hilliard High School and Capital University where he won letters in varsity football, baseball and track. After graduation he entered the U. S. Navy for a two-year period.

He has produced such outstanding backs as Larry Hannahs and Archie Ward. Coach Fisher is in the enviable position of having all his starting 1961 backfield returning this season.

JIM SHAW, the junior high coach, received his bachelor's degree from Rio Grande College in 1957, after playing tackle on U. S. Air Force teams from 1949 through 1953.

This will be his second season with the Tigers. Last year he was the reserve coach. From 1958 through 1960 he taught and coached basketball at Atlanta High School. Shaw replaces Paul Sarchet as Junior high coach.

Replacing Shaw as the reserve and freshmen coach is Bill Mos-ure, the newest addition to the coaching staff. Mosure is a graduate of Columbus East High School, and Ohio State University.

He was head baseball and basketball coach for five years in Henry and Wood Counties and assistant football coach at Mentor High School for two years prior to coming here.

The Tiger coaches have their sights set on another successful year at Circleville.

The first Circleville game is scheduled Sept. 7 at Olentangy, a Delaware County High School. On Sept. 14 the Tigers host Athens High School to open the home season.

Yanks, Cards, Dodgers Post TV Loop Wins

In Teays Valley little league action the Yankees clinched a second round tie for the championship by defeating the first round champion Redlegs, 2-1.

In other action, the Dodgers remained in contention for the championship and upped their season record to 3-1 with a tight 6-5 win over the Giants. In a battle of the winless, the Cardinals shoved the Indians into the league cellar with a 7-4 victory.

The Yankees' Ron Lambert and the Redlegs' Chet Gloyd hooked up in a tight pitching duel. Lambert won his own game by doubling in his brother Dale, who had left off the winning fifth inning rally with a single.

Bill Hall and Chet Gloyd paced the Redleg attack, each slamming doubles. Lambert picked up the win, while Gloyd was charged with the loss. Lambert struck out 11 and walked five in his winning performance.

THE WIN enabled the Yankees to remain undefeated in the second round with a 4-0 mark. The loss dropped the Reds to a 2-2 second round record and eliminate any second round title hopes they had in mind.

Jim Deal's sixth inning double that drove in Bill Welsh, who had singled, proved to be the clincher, as the Giants retaliated with a run in their half of the sixth and left the tying and winning runs on base.

The Philadelphia — Kansas City Athletics haven't won an American League pennant in 31 years.

Deal paced the Dodgers attack with three hits, including two doubles, while Gene Neff's big bat again led his team. He stroked a triple and a single. Porter and Costlow each belted out doubles for the Giants. Weisn was the winner while Taylor was the loser.

Mike Lombardi's third inning two-run homer was the key blow in the ten hit Cardinal attack. Gary Rife again led the Indian hitters with a triple and a single. Bruce Reese received credit for the win, while John Huffins was charged with the loss.

Yanks, Cards, Dodgers Post TV Loop Wins

In Teays Valley little league action the Yankees clinched a second round tie for the championship by defeating the first round champion Redlegs, 2-1.

In other action, the Dodgers remained in contention for the championship and upped their season record to 3-1 with a tight 6-5 win over the Giants. In a battle of the winless, the Cardinals shoved the Indians into the league cellar with a 7-4 victory.

Th Yankees' Ron Lambart and the Redlegs' Chet Gloyd hooked up in a tight pitching duel. Lambart won his own game by doubling in his brother Dale, who had led off the winning fifth inning rally with a single.

Bill Hall and Chet Gloyd paced the Redleg attack, each slamming doubles. Lambart picked up the win, while Gloyd was charged with the loss. Lambart struck out 11 and walked five in his winning performance.

THE WIN enabled the Yankees to remain undefeated in the second round with a 4-0 mark. The loss dropped the Reds to a 2-2 record and eliminate any second round title hopes they had in mind.

Jim Deal's sixth inning double that drove in Bill Welsh, who had singled, proved to be the clincher, as the Giants retaliated with a run in their half of the sixth and left the tying and winning runs on base.

The Philadelphia — Kansas City Athletics haven't won an American League pennant in 31 years.

Deal paced the Dodgers attack with three hits, including two doubles, while Gene Neff's big bat again led his team. He stroked a triple and a single. Porter and Costlow each belted out doubles for the Giants. Weisen was the winner while Taylor was the loser.

Mike Lombardi's third inning two-run homer was the key blow in the ten hit Cardinal attack. Gary Rife again led the Indian hitters with a triple and a single. Bruce Roese received credit for the win, while John Huffins was charged with the loss.

SAD SACKETTES DRILL TEAM — This motley crew is the Color Guard for the Sad Sackettes Drill Team scheduled to appear Friday at the CHS Band and Football Preview. These six Band Mothers will join forces with 15 others to present the special halftime attraction. Bandmothers invite all football fans to Friday's Preview and special attraction to see "the drill team and learn why the Reds haven't invaded Circleville." Pictured, left to right, are: Mrs. David Goldschmidt, Mrs. William Asa, and executives of the industrial concern. Officials of the new operation will be L. M. (Brick) Wuest, plant manager, and D. W. (Don) Greenlee, office and production manager.

Lincoln Plastics Sets Plans For New Plant in Indiana

M. W. Burkhardt, vice president and general manager of Lincoln Molded Plastics, Inc., today announced plans for erection of a new plastics molding industry to be located at Oakland City, Ind.

Construction of a new building for the Oakland Plastics Division was officially started today at a groundbreaking ceremony attended by Oakland City officials, the Oakland Business Mens Assn. and executives of the industrial concern.

Officials of the new operation will be L. M. (Brick) Wuest, plant manager, and D. W. (Don) Greenlee, office and production manager.

Wuest, who formerly lived in Circleville, now resides at 2625 Melrose Road, Evansville, Ind. Greenlee, currently living on the Bolender-Pontius Road, Route 1, will reside at Lincoln Heights Road, Route 1, Oakland City, Ind.

MANUFACTURING operations at the new site will consist of custom injection molding and finished decorating of thermoplastic materials. This facility represents an expansion of the local corporation, Lincoln Molded Plastics, Inc., one of the larger midwestern custom injection molders.

The anticipated date of start of operations at Oakland City will be early December of this year. The plant will employ approximately 75 people with its initial facilities by early 1963. The hiring of new employees will begin about mid-October.

The new building will occupy approximately 48,000 square feet of floor space in a single story masonry construction on a 15-acre plot of ground, on the south side of

Oakland City. The construction contract has been awarded to Industrial Contractors of Evansville, Ind.

According to Burkhardt, the new operation will have no effect on the work program or employment of the Circleville operation, which has expanded substantially since its location here in 1952 to a maximum desirable size for a custom molding plant.

Employment at Lincoln has been up to 240 persons in 1960, and current and near future work schedules are considered heavy. The new Indiana plant will have an initial capacity of approximately half the sales volume of the Circleville operation.

Wuest is a 22-year veteran of the plastics molding industry and began his association with the Lincoln organization as chief engineer. He has more recently been engaged in sales engineering work for Lincoln in the Evansville area. Wuest, his wife and family are well known in the Circleville community. They located here in 1952 when the Lincoln organization moved from Cambridge, O. to the Corwin and Clinton St. location.

Wuest was very active in the Pickaway Country Club and served as president for a number of years. He and his family relocated in Evansville in early 1960.

GREENLEE, married and the father of one son, is a 1944 graduate of Circleville High School. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Denver Greenlee, 557 Springhollow Road.

Following graduation from Ohio University in 1959, he joined the Lincoln firm as an engineer. He and his family will be transferred to Oakland City in late September.

The manufacturing activities of the new plant will embrace a variety of industrial accounts in the same line as the operations of the parent company, largely in appliances, radio, television, automotive, housewares, and numerous other industries. Lincoln Molded Plastics, Inc., has been one of the principal suppliers of injection moldings to the Whirlpool Corporation of Evansville for a number of years.

LEBANON, Ohio (AP) — Sheriff's deputies said Clarence Bowman, 26, arrested while sleeping in a stranger's car in nearby Oregon, was responsible for wrecking the interior of the Oregon post office.

Police converged on the community early Monday after postal officials discovered the office in disorder, with packages ripped open and equipment smashed. No charge was filed immediately against Bowman who said his

LE Student Named to Boys Band at Fair

Drexel Poling, Logan Elm High School junior, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Poling, is a member of the select group of almost 300 musicians chosen from approximately 1,000 who are recommended for the All Ohio Boys' Band each year by their high school music directors.

The All-boy band will perform at the Ohio State Fair this week.

As a member of the Logan Elm High School band and the Adelphi Community band, Drexel has played the flute, piccolo, alto and French Horn. In the Boys' Band he is playing flute which he has been playing for seven years. He also participates in his school's vocal music program as well as singing tenor as a member of the Choraliers a vocal group made up of Logan Elm High School students.

Fair visitors will quickly recognize members of the Boys' Band by their daytime uniforms of navy blue tops with light blue Bermudas or the evening uniform of white with lettered arm band. The band plays an hour long concert before each grandstand performance as well as daily concerts at special events on the fairgrounds. Sometimes they are divided into smaller groups for these programs.

Band members are quartered at the Youth Center where they spent five real working days rehearsing before they played their first concert at 6 a. m. on Friday's opening day. They will conclude with a concert for their parents and a grandstand concert on Friday of this week.

Stock Market Sags Quietly

NEW YORK (AP)—Some of the more volatile issues were off sharply as the stock market sagged in quiet trading early this afternoon.

The Associated Press average of 80 stocks at noon was off .8 at 225.7 with industrials down .8, rails down .7 and utilities down .5.

The market was going through a period of caution prior to Labor Day, brokers said. The watch-and-wait mood started last Friday, continued in Monday's mixed market and resumed this morning.

Lacking any incentive to rally, in view of the uncertainties of the fall season, stocks began to sell off as bids continued to dry up. Light offerings were enough to depress prices disproportionately for some issues.

Partisan Poll Is Ordered In Cleveland

CLEVELAND (AP) — Common Pleas Judge Eugene R. McNeill of Van Wert ruled today that Cleveland's next mayor — to serve the unfinished term of Anthony J. Celebrezze — must be nominated at partisan primaries Oct. 2 and elected Nov. 6.

The City Law Department had held that the election should be non-partisan.

The ruling by Judge McNeill, on assignment here, came in a suit filed by the Citizens League through a taxpayer. It upheld the contention of County Prosecutor John T. Corrigan, who advised the Board of Elections to conduct partisan primaries.

Corrigan is one of three Democrats who have announced they will seek the mayor's office. The others are Atty. Gen. Mark McElroy who has the backing of the county Democratic organization, and Ralph S. Locher, former law director who became acting mayor when Celebrezze resigned to join President Kennedy's cabinet as Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare.

Willard W. Brown, the Republican party choice, also has announced his candidacy.

Locher indicated the city does not plan to appeal Judge McNeill's ruling.

"I will abide by the decision of the court," Locher said. "I will run as a Democrat at the Oct. 2 primaries."

Sept. 25 for the new Chrysler and Imperial and Oct. 3 for the 1963 Plymouth and Valiant cars at dealerships throughout the United States.

Town Dog Delivers Traffic Fines

LONDON, Ohio (AP) — Cleo, the town character, has added another trick to her repertoire. The aged, waddling, sad-eyed dog of multibreed heritage has started to collect and deliver traffic fines.

Cleo spends weekdays at the post office and travels mail routes with city carriers. She has her regular stops — establishments where merchants supply her with water and goodies.

Nights and weekends she spends with police and firemen in London's city hall-jail.

Last week, Danny Davidson, owner of a tavern here, got a traffic ticket. Cleo came to his business establishment for her daily handout. While she was eating, Davidson tied an envelope with the ticket and the $1 fine around Cleo's neck.

Davidson, whose business is only a half-block from the police station, then shouted to a fireman to call Cleo.

"She has something for the mayor," said Davidson. The fireman whistled, Cleo waddled across London's main street to the police station and so the fine was paid.

Commented London Mayor Bryan Jenkinson, "I trust all city employees will emulate Cleo's devotion to duty."

The new building will occupy approximately 48,000 square feet of floor space in a single story masonry construction on a 15-acre plot of ground, on the south side of

Oakland City. The construction contract has been awarded to Industrial Contractors of Evansville, Ind.

According to Burkhart, the new operation will have no effect on the work program or employment of the Circleville operation, which has expanded substantially since its location here in 1952 to a maximum desirable size for a custom molding plant.

Employment at Lincoln has been up to 240 persons in 1960, and current and near future work schedules are considered heavy. The new Indiana plant will have an initial capacity of approximately half the sales volume of the Circleville operation.

Wuest is a 22-year veteran of the plastics molding industry and began his association with the Lincoln organization as chief engineer. He has more recently been engaged in sales engineering work for Lincoln in the Evansville area. Wuest, his wife and family are well known in the Circleville community. They located here in 1952 when the Lincoln organization moved from Cambridge, O. to the Corwin and Clinton St. location.

Wuest was very active in the Pickaway Country Club and served as president for a number of years. He and his family relocated in Evansville in early 1960.

GREENLEE, married and the father of one son, is a 1944 graduate of Circleville High School. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Denver Greenlee, 557 Springhollow Road.

Following graduation from Ohio University in 1959, he joined the Lincoln firm as an engineer. He and his family will be transferred to Oakland City in late September.

The manufacturing activities of the new plant will embrace a variety of industrial accounts in the same line as the operations of the parent company, largely in appliances, radio, television, automotive, housewares, and numerous other industries. Lincoln Molded Plastics, Inc., has been one of the principal suppliers of injection moldings to the Whirlpool Corporation of Evansville for a number of years.

LE Student Named to Boys Band at Fair

Drexel Poling, Logan Elm High School junior, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Poling, is a member of the select group of almost 300 musicians chosen from approximately 1,000 who are recommended for the All Ohio Boys' Band each year by their high school music directors.

The All-boy band will perform at the Ohio State Fair this week.

As a member of the Logan Elm High School band and the Adelphi Community band, Drexel has played the flute, piccolo, alto and French Horn. In the Boys' Band he is playing flute which he has been playing for seven years. He also participates in his school's vocal music program as well as singing tenor as a member of the Choraliers a vocal group made up of Logan Elm High School students.

Fair visitors will quickly recognize members of the Boys' Band by their daytime uniforms of navy blue tops with light blue Bermudas or the evening uniform of white with lettered arm band. The band plays an hour long concert before each grandstand performance as well as daily concerts at special events on the fairgrounds. Sometimes they are divided into smaller groups for these programs.

Band members are quartered at the Youth Center where they spent five real working days rehearsing before they played their first concert at 6 a. m. on Friday's opening day. They will conclude with a concert for their parents and a grandstand concert on Friday of this week.

Stock Market Sags Quietly

NEW YORK (AP)—Some of the more volatile issues were off sharply as the stock market sagged in quiet trading early this afternoon.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off 3 at 225.7 with industrials down 8, rails down .7 and utilities down .5.

The market was going through a period of caution prior to Labor Day, brokers said. The watch-and-wait mood started last Friday, continued in Monday's mixed market and resumed this morning.

Lacking any incentive to rally, in view of the uncertainties of the fall season, stocks began to sell off as bids continued to dry up. Light offerings were enough to depress prices disproportionately for some issues.

Partisan Poll Is Ordered In Cleveland

CLEVELAND (AP) — Common Pleas Judge Eugene R. McNeill of Van Wert ruled today that Cleveland's next mayor — to serve the unfinished term of Anthony J. Celebrezze — must be nominated at partisan primaries Oct. 2 and elected Nov. 6.

The City Law Department had held that the election should be non-partisan.

The ruling by Judge McNeill, on assignment here, came in a suit filed by the Citizens League through a taxpayer. It upheld the contention of County Prosecutor John T. Corrigan, who advised the Board of Elections to conduct partisan primaries.

Corrigan is one of three Democrats who have announced they will seek the mayor's office. The others are Atty. Gen. Mark McElroy who has the backing of the county Democratic organization, and Ralph S. Locher, former law director who became acting mayor when Celebrezze resigned to join President Kennedy's cabinet as Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare.

Willard W. Brown, the Republican party choice, also has announced his candidacy.

Locher indicated the city does not plan to appeal Judge McNeill's ruling.

"I will abide by the decision of the court," Locher said. "I will run as a Democrat at the Oct. 2 primaries."

Sept. 25 for the new Chrysler and Imperial and Oct. 3 for the 1963 Plymouth and Valiant cars at dealerships throughout the United States.

Town Dog Delivers Traffic Fines

LONDON, Ohio (AP) — Cleo, the town character, has added another trick to her repertoire. The aged, waddling, sad-eyed dog of multibreed hitherto has started to collect and deliver traffic fines.

Cleo spends weekdays at the post office and travels mail routes with city carriers. She has her regular stops — establishments where merchants supply her with water and goodies.

Nights and weekends she spends with police and firemen in London's city hall-jail.

Last week, Danny Davidson, owner of a tavern here, got a traffic ticket. Cleo came to his business establishment for her daily handout. While she was eating, Davidson tied an envelope with the ticket and the $1 fine around Cleo's neck.

Davidson, whose business is only a half-block from the police station, then shouted to a fireman to call Cleo.

"She has something for the mayor," said Davidson. The fireman whistled, Cleo waddled across London's main street to the police station and so the fine was paid.

Commented London Mayor Bryan Jenkinson, "I trust all city employees will emulate Cleo's devotion to duty."
